Dear U. City Family:

With your family's health and safety at the forefront of our minds, I am pleased to share this information with you from the University City Swim Club. I encourage you to join them this Sunday, June 28, at 4 p.m. for a Zoom webinar, Everyday Water Safety.

With the Heman Park pool closed this summer, many people will find themselves near rivers and lakes, which have inherently different safety concerns. This panel discussion will feature local and national experts who will address general water safety as well as how systemic racism and access to pools have led to racial disparities in drowning rates.

For more information including panelist biographies, please visit www.UniversityCitySwimClub.com and click on the Everyday Water Safety Webinar link. To register, click on the Register Today link above the ad on the webinar webpage.
