HiSET testing begins:
January 2, 2014
The GED test will no longer be used for Missouri high school equivalency certification. Beginning January 2014, Missouri’s new test will be the Educational Testing Service (ETS) High School Equivalency Test (HiSET). This new test is now aligned with Missouri’s Common Core State Standards and is designed to focus on college and career readiness. HiSet will be available as a computer-based test with testing taking place at state-approved test sites. Testing will not be available on the Internet. An increase in cost from $40.00 to $95.00 is expected.

HiSET is designed to prepare you for vocational training and college. Now you have another pathway to further academic and career opportunities.

The HiSet exam will measure your knowledge in five core areas:

- Language Arts–Reading
  - 65 mins.
  - 40 multi-choice questions

- Language Arts–Writing
  - 75 mins.– Part 1

  - 50 multi-choice questions
